Navy Inaugurates New Program For V-1 And V-7

A new college Navy reserve program, V-12, will be inaugurated July 1 to include V-1 and V-7 students who successfully pass the qualifying examinations to be given on or about April 2, according to an official Navy department statement released February 20 through a bulletin from the American Council of Education.

Men selected for the V-12 program will go on active duty in uniform as apprentice seamen receiving $50 a month and sustenance, to be assigned to colleges and universities for one and a third years' special instruction as part of the Navy officer training program.

Men in the V-7 program with less than one semester to complete requirements for graduation can elect to stay here at San Jose State college on inactive status without pay, or to go on active duty in uniform with pay as trainees under the Navy college training program. Either choice entitles the qualified V-7 man to complete his graduation requirements.

V-1 and V-7 men who successfully pass the qualifying exam for V-12 may express their preference for the college, course of study, and branch of service they wish to enter. The Navy promises to respect these preferences, but it does not guarantee their fulfillment.

The men assigned to colleges for special training may take part in student activities insofar as their participation does not interfere with their course of study for the Navy. The V-12 men may also join at their own expense all previously established organizations at

STUDENTS MUST GET RATIONING BOOKS TODAY

Any San Jose State college student living away from home must secure a No. 2 ration book at any registration station by tonight to be eligible to obtain food and other necessary commodities later, it was learned here yesterday.

In order to obtain this No. 2 book, the student must present his No. 1 rationing book issued a year ago for sugar and coffee. Students who do not have their No. 1 books here and who have to send home for them should visit a sign-up station at the nearest local elementary school or the food rationing board located at 167 E. Santa Clara street, to make arrangements for No. 2 books to be held in their name until the arrival of the No. 1 books.

Living groups numbering under 50 will no longer operate with one over-all book for the house. Members of the living group must obtain these No. 2 books and turn them over to the cook or house manager together with the No. 1 books. In addition, the cook must have his or her own No. 2 book.

Since it will probably be impossible for most students living a long way from home to obtain the necessary No. 1 books by tonight, Dean of Men Paul Pitman emphatically urges them to contact the local rationing board or officials at the sign-up stations today so that they may be sure of later obtaining the all-essential No. 2 book.

CURTAIN GOES UP ON ANNUAL REVELRIES SHOW TONIGHT AT 8:15; CAST OF 75 INCLUDES CHORUS OF CAMPUS LOVELIES AND COMEDIENNES

By PATRICIA LOOMIS

Tenth annual Spartan Revelries production, "Jest Among Ourselves," hilarious variety show, will go on the boards tonight at 8:15 in the first performance of a two-night run in the Morris Dailey Auditorium. Final performance will be tomorrow night at 8:15.

Some 1400 persons will witness the largest variety show ever produced on Washington Square, cast of which numbers 75 and includes a large chorus of campus lovelies attired in gorgeous costumes. "Jest Among Ourselves" is an entirely original production written and directed by students here at San Jose State college and employing student talent throughout.

Theme behind this year's Spartan Revelries is a burlesque of campus personalities and the eight original songs written by students for the show embody student life around the "Square" . . . in the Quad, around the Library, the Spartan shop, and in the shadow of the tower.

An informal atmosphere will reign during the show and according to Arthur Inman, publicity director of "Jest Among Ourselves," "There's going to be a lot of JEST . . . Among Ourselves tonight, and every student should make it a point to attend tonight or Saturday night's performance. Versatile comediennes head the cast of Revelries this year, and the tunes of the show are slated to be hits with students who see "Jest Among Ourselves," according to reports from persons who have attended rehearsals of the show this week.

All tickets in the reserved block sections will go off reserve at 9 o'clock this morning, Inman announced, and will be open to general sale to students.

SHOWS LAUGH-MEN

Laugh-men of the show include "Scrappy" Squatrito, well-known on the campus; Al Johnson, "Man of a thousand gags . . . all different;" and Student Body President Tom Taylor, famed for his role in past Revelries productions as the old man with the long beard and a reasonable facsimile of the D.T.'s.

An eight-page souvenir program has been printed and will sell for five cents. It contains, in addition to the program, 16 photographs of the chorus, vocalists, acts in the show and other members of the cast.

Dr. Vogelmann To Leave For Navy

Dr. Jack Vogelmann, school and team physician since 1939, will leave on April 1, at which time he will be commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Navy.

Dr. Vogelmann was scheduled to leave on March 15 but was deferred so as to allow him to complete the quarter.

Up to the present, no provisions have been made to fill the vacancy because of the shortage of physicians due to war conditions.

Dr. Bertha Mason will soon go on a part-time basis as she will assume new duties at Hamilton Field.

JUNIOR-SENIOR MIXER IN GYM MONDAY NIGHT

Juniors and seniors will hold their quarterly mixer party Monday night in the Men's gym, with a combination of competition and "just plain fun" making up the evening's entertainment.

Fun for upperclassmen will begin at 7:30. Adding to the spirit of the evening will be a class attendance contest to see which class can draw the largest percentage of people to the party. Seniors will enter by one door, and juniors will enter by another.

"We are collaborating on plans to have plenty of novelty dances and other types of entertainment that will give the two classes ample opportunity to get acquainted," promised Co-Chairmen Weber Lund and John Dahl.

Entertainment promises to be different and a lot of fun, they said. "We have arranged to have Dave Hines and his colleagues on hand for a judo exhibition."

"It won't be long until most men will be leaving school. They should take advantage of the good times and joint-friendship offered by college social events. The mixer provides this chance," stated one council member.

"It isn't every day that you can attend a mixer free. So save Monday evening for a good time," said Dan Meehan, senior president.

Refreshments will be served. Charles McCumby, refreshment chairman, said that there would be food for all. Earl Poytress, junior president, urged all juniors to be on hand to win the attendance contest. "We have succeeded in having a very swell Prom. Let's make our quarter of social functions complete by winning the mixer contest," he said.

Interest Grows In Alpha Phi Omega 'Ugly' Contest

Plans for the forthcoming "Ugly Man Contest" being sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, are rapidly developing, according to Group President Tom Hosley. Purpose of the contest is to raise money for the H. F. Minschen Scholarship Fund.

In answer to much comment on the advisability of such a contest, Alpha Phi Omega officials made it clear today that the whole affair is "all in fun." "A contestant doesn't necessarily have to be ugly; he can be some handsome fellow," declared Hosley.

Each on-campus organization has been asked to enter a contestant whose picture will be placed among others in the quad, and votes will be cast in the form of pennies. Daily results will be posted on a score board.

The contest is to run from Tuesday, March 2, to Tuesday, March 16. The man awarded the honor of "ugliest man on-campus" will be officially crowned at a dance in his honor next quarter.

Contestants who do not have pictures are asked to go to the Photo Lab between 2 and 3 o'clock today, and pictures will be taken of them. Any organization wishing to back a contestant should place the name in box "A" of the co-op or phone Tom Hosley at Col. 969 today.

Freshman Council Plans Dance, Party

After thoroughly trouncing the sophomores yesterday at the Frosh-Soph mixer, freshmen have turned to planning their next social event and the last one of the quarter — a dance and a theater party to be held March 5.

The night will start with a gen-

Last Dance Of Quarter Tonight After Revelries

As the curtain rings down on the opening performance of the 1943 Revelries, "Jest Among Ourselves," the last student body dance of the winter quarter will be just getting under way in the Men's gym, according to Dance Chairman David Coen.

No matter how long the Revelries last, the dance will be held. To ensure dancers of lots of time in which to trip the light fantastic, Coen has obtained permission from the deans to extend the dance until 1:30. This will be the first time in student body history that an ASB dance has been permitted to run that late.

Feature of the dance will be the fact that the music will be provided via a real orchestra rather than the customary off-the-record variety to which Spartans have been doomed to dance for the majority of school functions since one James Petrillo "slapped us on the wrist." Frankie Walker and his popular 12-piece outfit will provide the danceable strains, both smooth and sweet, tonight. Walker played at the Reg dance last December.

In conjunction with the Revelries theme, which pokes fun at popular campus figures, decorations for the gym will consist of caricatures of campus characters. These are to be complemented by gay streamers, etc., and will lend to the dance theme, "Fun Among Ourselves." Ed Kincaid will handle decorations.

Dressy sport has been selected as proper attire for the dance. Men are requested to wear ties. Price of admission, as usual, will be the presentation of a student body card. Non-student body members will be charged 40 cents. No stags are allowed.

KSJS Dramatizes Murder-Mystery On KQW Tomorrow

Written by Elsie Bengt, "The Invisible Wound," an adaptation, will be presented over KQW tomorrow at 1:30 by the KSJS radio society. Tryouts for next week's play will be held in room 155, at 4 o'clock, Monday, and any interested student may try out.

The play, which tells the story of a mistaken murderer and a man's burning conscience, is guaranteed by its authoress to give its listeners a few spine-chillers. Duane Heath plays the part of Jean, the murderer who kills his wife when he finds some love letters he thinks she has written to another man. When he discovers that she was keeping them for another woman, his conscience almost drives him crazy, and the play ends very tragically with his suicide.

Milt Brietzke plays the doctor, who is forced to cut into Jean's hand on which he can see no wound but which Jean says pains him constantly. Charlotte Ericson plays the wife, and Barbara Whitaker plays the duchess. The radio play is being directed by Peter Mingrone.

Because of a recent decision on the part of KSJS members to allow all students in the school to have an opportunity of taking part in a radio play, any member of the student body may try out.

Here's A Thought—

Error of opinion may be tolerated when reason is left free to combat it.

Make Your Own Choice

War is undoubtedly one of the greatest factors for changing the course of life that has yet been devised by man.

It is something that can either bring out the best in the individual or, it may just as easily bring out the worst.

What will it do to you? It will make some of us stronger—stronger than we had pictured ourselves in even our remotest dream.

Others will be affected differently—they will sink to the lowest depths of cowardice, disgrace, and despair. These will blame the war for their misfortunes—those whom it makes strong will look upon it as a source from which to draw new determination.

In actuality, however, the war will not be the cause for these successes or failures—it will be only an agent that will advance the inevitable outcome. Success or failure lies within the individuals themselves. In them and in you is the possibility of success or failure. What you do with this potentiality is up to you entirely. If you wish to sacrifice your future for a few present pleasures, that is up to you—make your own choice.

—Long.

War is a perpetual struggle with embarrassments.

Spartans In The Fight

By Bob Pope

"I just got back from the ground school, where I have been working on some material for aircraft identification which is naturally an important subject with us and the cadets. The course includes all types of aircraft, foreign as well as our own. It is an enormous job and takes a lot of time. I am flying quite a bit too; mostly, however, as a check-ride for students in my own squadron—keeping tab on how well they are assimilating their instruction and whether or not they are progressing as they should.

"I have been stationed here for about three months now, and even though the weather is quite cold at times—today is just like good old San Jose weather in the spring. Naturally, like all others, I have been trying to get my bid in for combat, but the higher-ups still think I am more valuable here—(patting myself on the back in a reluctant sort of way). The field is comparatively new, and the second class graduated just two weeks ago, consequently we have some punk conditions. We should holler, though, when what we have is far superior to those in the actual war theaters.

"It has been quite some time since I contacted any of the San Jose boys who went in with me—a postcard from Dick Ofstad the other day, and he was still in Puerto Rico.

"I had a nice letter from Marian Stewart at Norman, Oklahoma, and she said that Bud was quite busy with the pre-flight training given to the Navy boys there. Apparently they like it very much.

"By the way, my roommate here is a very good friend of Charles Kerwin, the boxer. Chuck is stationed at Columbus Army Air Base in Columbus, Mississippi.

"I guess that Dale Wren is still at Mather Field, or at least he was the last I knew. Gillette White is married now and is instructing at the Army Basic Flying School in Bainbridge, Georgia. He married Margaret Ney, a Kappa at State.

The Editor's Column . . .

Maybe we're just prejudiced, but it certainly seems that a lot of "our boys," i.e., graduates and former students of San Jose State college now in the service, are certainly making good in the big fight.

Most recent hero who was a student here a few years ago, is Lt. George Stallman, whose exploits as pilot of an American bomber in Europe were outlined in yesterday's Daily.

Then there is Frank Crawford, ex-Spartan, who was merely first officer on the plane which flew President Roosevelt to the Casablanca conference.

And in past weeks we have also heard of the successes of Lt. Doan Carmody, Sgt. Svend Hansen, and a good many others before them. Makes you kind of proud.

The old saying, "absence makes the heart grow fonder," seems to apply to these same former residents of Washington Square, as well as just about every other service man whose star is on one or the other of our service flags.

Every day the Spartan Daily gets letters from at least one San Jose State lad who tells us how much he enjoys getting and reading the Daily, and it always touches us how interested they always are in what's going on around the old school.

No matter what battles they have been through or what hazards they are living under, they still seem to think plenty about San Jose and its activities.

May be food for thought there for a lot of us who are all too anxious to quit college, or who just can't see the value of keeping up their class work in times like these. College may appear trivial to us only because we're too busy enjoying it to appreciate it. Certainly these boys of ours on the fighting fronts seem to appreciate it—it's one of the things they're out there to protect.

While we're on the subject, we got a letter this week from Wesley Young, last year's senior class president, who is now at Midshipman's school in New York. He says hello to all his friends still here on-campus, and reports that Orren Turner, also class of '42, just got his ensign's commission at the same school.

All naval reservists interested in obtaining small-boat training at Palo Alto yacht harbor meet Sunday at 9:15 at the Seventh street entrance to the campus. Transportation arrangements will be made at that time. All with cars available, please bring them. —August Avila.

THRUST and PARRY

● CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

Dear Thrust and Parry:

According to Mr. Fischer, the root cause of India's troubles is Britain, and if the British would follow Gandhi's advice and get out, India's problems would begin to be solved. In opposition to this facile explanation of the Indian problem, I should like to point out that the greatest enemies of India are not the handful of British who have maintained law and order in this vast land for many years amidst tremendous difficulties, but rather the real enemies of India are the traits, characteristics and nature of the mass of the Indian people themselves, steeped as they are in appalling ignorance, illiteracy, abject poverty, low standard of life, child marriages and frightful religious superstitions.

All these conditions of life prevailing among the masses of Indians existed long before the British arrived on the scene, and would continue to exist even if the British left the country tomorrow. It is a common trait of human nature to try to find a scapegoat for one's own defects of character, and the Indian agitators, such as Gandhi, find their scapegoat in the British, on whom they can place the blame for their country's deplorable condition.

However, if these Indian politicians will turn their eyes toward their own country they will see the degrading caste system with the Untouchables, their rapacious, rich princes and greedy landlords, and above all their sacred cows and deep religious superstitions such as the worship of the awful Goddess of Fecundity, Kali, with the attendant bloody sacrifice of goats, so that the poor Hindoo women may have more children in a land already grossly overpopulated. These are only a few of the many real causes of India's misery, rather than British rule.

Arthur Kelley.

Engagement Revealed

News of the engagement of Miss Phyllis King to Donald Wyand was revealed last Wednesday at the meeting of Sigma Gamma Omega fraternity.

Miss King is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John King of Ventura, California. She is now attending Ventura Junior college.

Wyand is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wyand of Ventura, California. He has attended San Jose State college for the past two years and is a member of Spartan Knights and Sigma Gamma Omega fraternity.

No date has been set for the wedding.

KSJS CALLING

By

Jacquie Jurgensen

KSJS is calling — for script writers!

There is really nothing terrifying about the prospect of writing a play. All you need is a bright idea. Then, instead of working the idea into a formal composition, put it in conversation and then, maybe, you'll have a play. Perhaps that isn't Eugene O'Neill's way of doing it, but Elsie Bengt, sophomore English major, has been turning out a number of fine plays, in this manner, this year.

Tomorrow you'll hear her latest, which is an adaptation, "The Invisible Wound," over KQW at 1:30. It's her first adventure with murder mystery, and promises to be FRIGHTFULLY good.

Elsie started this business of writing plays in high school in Eureka. She wrote, directed, and produced a number of them there. Last year she won the Phelan prize for her play, "Long Live the Queen." She is a member of Pegasus, and her burning ambition at the moment is to become a member of Iota Delta Phi, French honor society. However, her ultimate aim is to be a radio writer, and by the looks of the excellent play, "Catherine the Great," she turned out last week, she'll probably reach her aim.

If any student should get an especially good idea for a play or should write one, he would find Elsie very willing to help him get it in order to submit to Peter Mingrone of the Speech department, who is directing the KSJS plays.

Delta Phi Upsilon: Formal initiation at Student Center, Tuesday, March 2. Members be there at 6:30. Pledges be there at 7. See bulletin board for further information. Please co-operate by being there promptly at the stated time. —Martha Bartholomew, president.

Swimming Team Meets Stanford Today

Indians Favored Over Spartan Swimmers In Third Meet Of Season For San Jose; Rudloff, Frelier, Bacon State Hopes For Victory In Palo Alto Pool This Afternoon

By BILL MITCHELL

With a record of one defeat and one win behind them for the season, the San Jose State varsity swimming team travels up to Palo Alto this afternoon to meet the Stanford squad at 4 o'clock.

The smart money rests with the Stanford paddlers even though the State mermen have been improving rapidly during practice sessions of late. Coach Roger Frelier declared today that Stanford has one of the best squads in years and most of the men are experienced and fast.

Besides the experience of the Stanford men, Frelier has to contend with the loss of several men during the season to Uncle Sam's armed forces. Frank Petty, who had great possibilities as a diver, left earlier in the season to report to the air corps.

DALEY LEAVES

Lately, Pat Daley, one of the best men in the backstroke events, dropped out when claimed by the air corps.

The medley relay for today's meet will probably be made up of Karl Hazeltine, backstroke; Roger Frelier, breaststroke; and Joe Weitzenberg, freestyle. The three men have been working out well together as was seen in their defeat of the University of California team in the time of 3:23.7.

Two sure starters for the 50-yard event are Doug Bacon and Gordon Phillips. Bacon, who started out the quarter as a distance man, has shown a great ability for the shorter heats. At Cal, Bacon took a close second in both the 50 and 100.

PHILLIPS MAY SURPRISE

Phillips has done better times in the past than he has at State all season. Should he get back into his former stride, he may pull a surprise and come through.

Possible 220 men are Ed Rudloff, Moe Richardson, and Jim Davis. Whichever two Coach Frelier chooses will put up a good battle. The whole plan revolves upon whether or not he wishes to swim Rudloff, who is good in practically every event and who must necessarily be limited to a certain number.

Richardson has been a consistent placer all season, having placed second in the meet with California. Davis, a comparative newcomer, has been shifted back and forth between the 220 and the 100.

OHLSON AND JOHNSON

Gus Ohlson and Jim Johnson will handle the diving chores. Ohlson has made second places in both the Olympic Club and Cal meets. Johnson has been improving gradually and has every possibility of putting on a good show.

The century will include Doug Bacon, Jim Davis, or Gordon Phillips, any of whom could make a place with the breaks.

The 150 backstroke will see Karl Hazeltine in number one spot with Wes Conner backing him up. Conner will be filling the shoes of Pat Daley, and should have little trouble after the improvement he has made lately. Hazeltine has placed in every meet so far.

FRELIER, RUDLOFF

Starters in the 200 yard breaststroke will most probably be Roger Frelier and Ed Rudloff. These two have come through with firsts and seconds all season long.

Jack Daly and Jim Davis will be the 440 men of the meet. Daly has been coming along all season and may break into the win column.

The four-man relay will be made up of Joe Weitzenberg, Ed Rudloff, Roger Frelier, and Doug Bacon.

Dick Murphy and Bob Hartman stand good chances of being entered in their respective events. Murphy is a sprint man, and Hartman is a diver and distance man.

TWO CASABAMEN JOIN RANKS OF SPARTAN BOXERS

Bert Robinson, Roy Diederichsen Sign

"If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" Or, looking at it from another angle, "It's always darkest just before the dawn,"—but anyway you look at it, there's a lot of truth in those axioms.

Brenton Riley, Sparta's boxing coach, can testify to that.

One bad break after another has been piling up on the ring team for the last week—ever since the Mather Field fights. Jimmy Johnson and Don Haas were both cut up in that meet; not seriously, but just enough to make Riley worry a little.

Pete Mayer receipted for a broken nose in his bout against the soldiers' representatives, as a result of which he will be out of action for the remainder of the season.

And then, two days ago, George Thomas came out with the heart-breaking statement that he will also have to drop from the ranks of the boxers—due to an injured nerve in his arm.

That seemed to leave Mayer's division, 155 lbs., and Thomas', 175 lbs., devoid of first-class men. Riley was beginning to feel pretty low, when all at once the sun burst through.

Two members of Ed Blesh's basketball team, which wound up its season Wednesday night, yesterday signified their intention to join the boxing team. They are Bert Robinson and Roy Diederichsen—and they will be the answer to Riley's prayers, because Diederichsen is a 155-pounder, and Robinson is a light-heavy.

So, if everything goes right, they can fill the gaps left by the loss of Mayer and Thomas, and bring State's mittmen back to full strength.

Both are experienced men; Roy was No. 1 man at 155 lbs. last year on the squad, and Bert fought in the CCAA tournament in 1942.

Casaba Stars Don Diamond Togs Today; Sonntag, Breuer, Colombo, Robinson Bolster Spartan Pennant Aspirations

If basketball ability has any carry-over into other sports, then Coach Milton Lanyon should have the makings of a top-flight nine from the casaba turnout alone.

The redheaded baseball mentor yesterday issued uniforms to several of the first-string basketball men who are expected to commence practice as soon as Jupe Pluvius decides to relent and allow the diamond to dry out.

Outstanding transfer from the cager sport is Cas Breuer, who gained considerable fame as a jaysee hurler last year. Another addition to the mound corps is guard Hal Sonntag, a veteran of one year's experience.

Bert Robinson, "a new kid," has announced his intention of trying out for one of the outfield berths, while Angelo Colombo is already firmly entrenched at one outer garden post.

Coach Lanyon has hopes of whipping these men into shape in time for next week's tilt with Stanford.

ERNIE FIGONE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Ernie Figone, a member of last year's soccer team and the 1940 basketball team, was fatally injured recently when the plane he was piloting crashed at Monogram Field, near Suffolk, Virginia.

Figone was a basketball star at Galileo High school in San Francisco and later played on the San Jose State varsity throughout the 1940 season. He was one of the best men on the 1940 champion soccer team.

Both Figone's widow, Mrs. Nadine Figone, and his mother, Mrs. Rose Figone, reside in San Francisco.

P. E. Fraternity Plans Dance For March 12

Roy Diederichsen, entertainment chairman for Phi Epsilon Kappa, physical education fraternity, has laid plans before the group for a dance to be held March 12 at Hillsdale Farm.

"The dance," stated Diederichsen, "is to be given in honor of all physical education majors and their friends." Each P. E. major will be given three bids to the affair. In turn he will present bids to his friends. The price for the dance (with bid) will be 75 cents, according to Diederichsen.

Scheduled to last from 9:00 to 1:00, the dance will feature refreshments and dancing off the record.

The honorary group is made up of physical education majors of San Jose State. Officers of the club include: Ivan Olsen, president; John Dahl, vice-president; and Fenton Hill, secretary-treasurer.

Last week when Wendell Johnson of the Speech department, who was directing "Arsenic and Old Lace," bemoaned the loss of four of his male actors to the armed forces, it had not occurred to him that the director might leave, too.

Yes, Mr. Johnson himself has taken a leave of absence to work as a drafter at Hendy's Iron Works. However, he still takes classes in the morning, and his students enjoy the unique experience of being taught by a teacher dressed in work clothes.

Ted Hatlen, who came to Johnson's aid a week ago by taking the part of Teddy, the raving lunatic of "Arsenic and Old Lace," now finds himself in the dual role of director and actor. Peter Mingrone, speech instructor, who did his part to remedy the male-less situation by taking the part of Officer Petrillo in the play, now finds himself also in the dual role of actor and technical director.

Mr. Johnson, who has taught speech at state for five and a half years, has done a great deal of work on plays here, designing sets.

The cast for the play, which has continued rehearsals despite man-trouble, includes Alice Modry, Eleanor Wagner, Jack Miller, Harrison McCreath, Jeanette Thimann, Bert Holland, Harrison Bryan, Keith Thomas, Duane Heath, and Al Johnson.

Navy V-1 Program To Close March 15

Since entrance into the Navy V-1 program will close on or before March 15, 17-year-old students seeking enlistment in the program should submit their applications at the Board of Athletic Control building, Stanford university, today or tomorrow.

An enlistment party will be there to consider eligible students who must be regularly enrolled in college since the beginning of the fall term, or high school students who have graduated or will graduate at the middle of the school year. They must plan to enter an accredited college prior to March 15.

The registration group will be at the university from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Students must present a transcript of record, letter of recommendation from the college, birth certificate, father's consent, registrar's statement, other letters of recommendation and pictures.

Frosh Council

eral get-together at the Student Center with games, dancing and refreshments the order of the evening. After that, the whole party will attend the Lyric theater where, besides the movies, the Freshman Players will present one of their inimitable corny sketches. Food will be vended up and down the aisles during the show.

Dean of Women Helen Dimmick is holding a party for the Freshman council Monday evening at her home. Dessert will be served.

At the council meeting Tuesday, Ted Worley, chairman of the Freshman council last quarter, and John Jamison, president of the class this quarter, presented the class of 1946 with a beautiful historian's book. The book will contain all the clippings of various class activities and all other mementoes during the four years this class is in San Jose State.

Pat Cavanagh and Pat Dunlavy were appointed historians by the council.

The Freshman council meets regularly every Tuesday at 4 p.m. in room 34. All freshmen are invited to attend.

Music Program To Be Given At Chapel Hour

An all-music program will be offered at the next regular Chapel Hour to be held in the Little Theater at 12:25 Tuesday.

Vocal duets, by Margaret and Harriet Dickerman will consist of "Whispering Hope" by Alice Hawthorne, and "Four Leaf Clover" by Brownell. Accompanist is Jayne Bisozza.

A string quartet will play the Opus 18, Number 1—allegro con brio—by Beethoven. The group includes Charles Carniglia and Warren Heid on violin, Bill Harry on cello, and Dorisse Thomassen playing viola.

Duran Hernandez, to be accompanied by Gloria Pacini, is slated to play two clarinet solos: "Soeur Monique" by Francon Couperin, and "Bouree" by William Babel.

Army Consultant On Campus Today

Dr. R. W. Webb, special consultant for the Army meteorology service, will be on the campus today to interview men interested.

Dr. Webb will be available in the office of Dr. Victor Peterson, in the Science building, from 8:30 until 12 o'clock this morning.

Men students who interviewed Dr. J. Kaplan last December, or who have since become interested in Army meteorology, are especially encouraged to see Dr. Webb today, says Dr. Peterson.

Teachers Needed To Instruct Navy Personnel

To instruct Navy personnel at outlying stations, advance bases, and training centers, the Navy has issued a call for qualified teachers to serve as officer-instructors. Men with at least five years' teaching experience and forceful personality, between 26 and 41 years of age, are sought for this service.

Particularly sought are experienced teachers in the fields of physics, mathematics, engineering, Spanish, French, and other foreign languages. Candidates who have had experience in sales management or sales promotion in addition to their academic work will be given preference.

Qualified teachers, who will be commissioned officers in the Naval Reserve, are urged to write or apply at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 703 Market street, San Francisco.

Interfaith Easter Program committee meets today at noon in room 20.—Eleanor Cralle.

Commerce Class Working In Local Offices

"The entire class of Commerce majors is now working in various local offices doing practice work. This group of eight students is the largest in the history of the department to do practice work at one time," announced Dr. Earl Atkinson, Commerce department head.

"The reason for the increase in placement opportunities for our students is probably an outgrowth of the big income tax business this year," concluded Commerce Head Atkinson.

The course is limited to advanced commerce students who are able to pass rigid requirements for doing practical work in their major field. They receive from three to five units for this working experience.

The following students have passed their examinations and are now doing their practice work in local offices: Gerald Becker, Douglas Curry, Sander Gire, Irving Gold, Miss Ethel Mae Hall, William Jones, Bayard Nielson and Miss Dorothy Norville.

In addition to this group, five Merchandising majors, six Secretarial majors, and three Clerical majors are doing their business practice.

Navy Will Try Dr. Yates' Methods

Dr. Dorothy Hazeltine Yates, associate professor of psychology, announced yesterday that Lt. (sg) Telford L. Moore, surgeon at the Alameda Naval Air Station, is interested in the "psychologizing" methods with which she has developed the Spartan boxing team. He is going to experiment with them in training naval air cadets.

"This does not mean the Navy has taken any action officially," Dr. Yates explained. "It is not entirely unlikely that the armed forces may adopt some of the methods in time."

By means of direction of emotions and psychological "sets," Dr. Yates has developed unusual power and perfection of technique in certain members of this year's boxing team. Coach "Dee" Portal publicly credited her with the team's success before he entered the Navy.

dents wishing seats at Revelries either for tonight, or for tomorrow night, should procure them as soon as possible as they are selling fast. Inman said late yesterday afternoon.

Directors for the show include Kidwell, Inman and Jeanette Owen, dance director, and Ray Vidler in charge of music. Ted Hatlen of the Speech department is faculty adviser for the production.

NAVY PROGRAM

colleges and universities chosen for Navy specialized training.

Throughout the Navy training the V-12 man will be expected to maintain regulation standards of Navy discipline and appearance.

Successive groups of V-12 students will report for college officer training on July 1, November 1, March 1, and on every fourth month thereafter.

The qualifying examination will be comparable to the typical college entrance tests, according to Dr. James DeVoss, dean of the upper division and adviser to Navy reservists.

FINALS IN EXTEMPORANEOUS CONTEST SCHEDULED FOR THIS AFTERNOON IN LITTLE THEATER

Climax to the extemporaneous speaking section of the Annual Key tournament will materialize this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Little Theater, when eight finalists compete for first place.

"Eight outstanding speakers selected from more than 50 contestants will give 'their all' today to come out on top of the forensics ladder," declares Dick Flower, manager.

Subjects from which students will prepare their speeches will be among the following: rationing, draft deferment, war and college, religion, education, women's role in the war, and relationship of the East and West.

"Everyone is invited to attend these sessions, and speech classes will attend the finals today," states Marge Howell, assistant manager.

Judges will be Mildred Winters, Dr. William Poytress, Claude Settles, Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, and Bernice Tompkins.

Monday will be the first day of the discussion and interpretive reading contests. The military-political phase of the United States Policy Towards Latin America will be up for discussion.

There will be a five-minute constructive speech by each participant to be followed by general discussion and cross-questioning.

"Registration is still open to anyone interested in competing, but today is the last day to sign up," states Flower.

Marian Sinclair is in charge of discussion entrants, and Phyllis Wakefield and Tom Pagenhart are chairmen for the interpretive reading event.

Awards will be given for all divisions on the last Friday of the tournament at a dinner honoring the contestants.

The final week of the three-week tourney will be given over to oratorical speaking, and students expecting to participate should hand in their written manuscripts immediately.

AWA Plans Supper For Women Doing Red Cross Work

All women students of the college may participate in a campus-wide Red Cross afternoon of work planned for March 10 by the AWA cabinet at the last AWA meeting.

Money for yarn and material has been obtained from the AWA Red Cross fund, and those willing to assist on that day will work from 1 to 5 p.m. Ann Wilson is Red Cross chairman in charge of all needlework.

A canteen supper has also been scheduled after 5 o'clock for those who took part in the afternoon's activities. Admission for the supper will be 15 cents. To facilitate food costs, representatives from the various organizations are asked to determine the approximate number of their groups who are expected to attend, according to Food Chairman Viola Coonradt.

"Time spent on this project will also count as hours completed for the regular weekly Red Cross work of the organizations," disclosed Miss Wilson.

KKS, SGO HOLD JOINT MEETING

Kappa Kappa Sigma, on-campus social sorority, and Sigma Gamma Omega, on-campus social fraternity, held a joint meeting Wednesday night in the Student Union.

The evening's entertainment consisted of dancing, with music furnished by Bill Bristol, and a skit performed by the fraternity's pledges. Chairman of the affair was Don Campbell.

Music Fraternity Pledges Will Be Honored Sunday

To be honored at a formal initiation Sunday evening, pledges of the Beta Eta chapter of the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of America will meet at 5:30 in the college Music building.

The pledges consist of 12 students invited to join the fraternity on the basis of scholastic record, as well as personality traits and musical ability. Active membership may also be conferred upon any man who displays a love for music either by adopting music as his profession or by working actively to advance the cause of music in America, stated Ray Vidler, fraternity president.

Following the initiation, they will be entertained at dinner to be given at the Italian hotel.

Officers in charge of the affair, headed by President Vidler, are Vice-President Sal Russo, Secretary Al Mendonsa, Treasurer Thomas Eagan, Historian Jim Wilson, and Warden Harry Hunter.

Incoming members are Ben Briggs, Charlie Carniglia, Joe Cathey, Robert Creighton, Arthur Flower, Jim Gillen, Warren Heid, Welton King, Theodore Lee, Duane Newcomer, Don Price and Don Whitehead.

Local faculty members prominent in the organization are Adolph Otterstein, supreme vice-president; Thomas Eagan, western province governor; and George Matthews, president of the Alumni club of San Jose.

EROS DONATE MONEY TO RED CROSS UNITS

As a result of a recent Ero Sophian dance, the college unit of the American Red Cross will be able to add many needed supplies to their sewing room in the main building.

Marge Behrman, president of the Eros, presented Mrs. Florence Bryant, treasurer of the campus unit, with a substantial part of the profits made at their dance. With the money, various sewing supplies and yarn for knitting will be purchased, according to Mrs. Mildred Winters, general chairman of the college Red Cross unit.

"The unit deeply appreciates the generosity of the Ero Sophians," said Mrs. Winters.

She added that members of that organization have been among the most active workers for the unit. One of them, Wilma Annette, was among the first to receive a service pin for completing over 100 hours of sewing and knitting.

Another Ero who has done outstanding work is Jeannette Rankin, who was a member of the Hostess and Arrangement committee for the recent Red Cross Open House Tea.
